

About Us

My name is Miranda Coyle, and I am the owner of NJ Pet Sitters, L.L.P. Since I founded the company in 2006, my goal has been to provide the best pet care possible for owners while they are away. I decided to follow my true passion in life, which is the caring and nurturing of all creatures great and small. When I left for my honeymoon, I entrusted the care of my pets to a friend. Upon returning, I realized that the service they received was not sufficient. I searched for an alternative solution, but was unable to find one. My unconditional love for animals and high expectations for the care of my loved ones were the primary reasons for launching a professional pet sitting service. My educational background includes a Degree from Berkeley Business College. I am an accredited member of Pet Sitters International (PSI), and we are certified in Pet First-Aid by the American Red Cross. I have significant experience developing and leading a team. I believe in systems and routines to make sure your pets are safe and secure in their own environment. Our pet care expertise will ensure that your loved ones receive the best care possible while you are away!
